

Republican Candidates for Election in County of Oahu

SKETCH OF MEN WHO STAND FOR SQUARE DEAL FOR ALL CITIZENS

W. O. SMITH
Candidate for Territorial Senator from Oahu

William Owen Smith, Republican candidate for the Senate, was born in Kula, Island of Kauai, August 4, 1848. His early education was received in the public schools. He studied law with Alfred S. Hartwell. He was married in Honolulu in 1876, to Mary A. Houston. Mr. Smith was Sheriff of Kauai and Maui, 1876-81. He was admitted to the bar in 1878 and was a member of the Legislature at times covering a period of 20 years, 1878 to 1898.

W. O. Smith was Attorney General of Hawaii 1898-9. He was president of the Bar Association and is now secretary and treasurer of the Sugar Planters' Association. He has represented Hawaiian interests on many occasions in the city of Washington and elsewhere, and was chairman of the special delegation to Washington to urge the refund to Hawaii of a proportion of the local Federal revenue. A staunch party man, a leader in all matters of general welfare, one of the most celebrated legal minds of the Islands and an acknowledged authority on all Hawaiian affairs and conditions, Mr. W. O. Smith will undoubtedly receive a big vote, on November 6, for a seat in the Senate.

W. T. RAWLINS
Candidate for Representative from Fourth District

W. T. Rawlins, candidate for the House from the Fourth District, is an old timer in Honolulu. He was born in this city in 1877 and obtained his preliminary education in Punahou College from which he graduated in 1898, then attending the Yale Law School in New Haven, Conn., where he received his degree and then returned to his native land to take up practice.

He has never before come out as a candidate for the Legislature but has occupied a number of positions which have shown the people of Honolulu that they could trust him in every way. He was appointed referee in bankruptcy in the Federal Court in 1902 and later in the same year was District Attorney of the first County. He has held the position of chairman of the Board of Registration for two terms and here his work was so satisfactory that Governor Carter desired to appoint him a third time but he was unable to accept. He also held the office of Deputy High Sheriff in 1904 and 1905 and filled the position to the acceptance of all.

He is much liked among haoles and Hawaiians and the reason was shown when entirely at his own expense and wish he spent nearly two weeks in court aiding in the defense of George Wainee, who was recently on trial for his life.

JOHN A. HUGHES
Candidate for Representative from Fourth District

John A. Hughes, Republican candidate for Representative from the Fourth District, was born in a seaport town on the northeast coast of Ireland 47 years ago. He studied navigation under John P. Holland, inventor of the Holland submarine torpedo boat. He went to San Francisco about 24 years ago, as officer on an English ship, and settled there, securing employment with the San Francisco Bridge & Construction Co. He worked on and superintended several railroad contracts for that company. He resigned to take a position with Mr. B. F. Dillingham of the Oahu Railway & Land Co. and has been with this company for the last 11 years.

Mr. Hughes joined the Republican party when it was first organized in this Territory and was a member of the first executive committee, and since then he has been an industrious worker in the Republican ranks.

Mr. Hughes takes an active interest in public affairs and is a firm believer in the policy of developing this Territory along American lines.

JOSEPH KALANA
Candidate for Representative from Fifth District

Joseph Kalana, candidate for the House from the Fifth District, is a full-blooded Hawaiian who is known to almost everyone in Honolulu and his close personal friends on the other islands will help him if elected on November 6. He was born in Kaa, Hawaii, in 1859, but moved to Hilo when a boy three years of age. He was educated in that city, attending a private school and later the Hilo Boarding school. He moved to this city in 1892 and has been interested in various enterprises, being at present in the back business.

He has never before been a candidate for any elective office but has occupied a number of positions of trust, being foreman in the road department for some time. While in Hilo he held the office of captain of police under the administration of Kalanikou as Sheriff. He was raised to this position from that of police officer for merit.

Candidate for County Supervisor from Honolulu

Chas. Hustace Jr., candidate on the Republican ticket for Supervisor from Honolulu, was born at Makawao, Maui, about 44 years ago, on August 25, 1862. His education was received at the public schools and the Fort street school was one of the institutions where he advanced in knowledge.

Mr. Hustace went to work at the age of 14 years and has been at work ever since. He has been connected with the banking business since 1883. With Bishop & Co. he progressed from the bottom of the ladder to the position of cashier. Before his banking experience Mr.

J. K. KALANIANA'OLE
Candidate for Delegate to Congress

Jonah Kūhio Kalaniana'ole, often referred to as "Prince Kūhio," but more popularly known as Kūhio, a Hawaiian, is the Republicans' candidate for Hawaii's Delegate to Congress. He has served two terms as the representative of these Islands in the National Congress and has won the confidence of the law makers in Washington. Kūhio's experience and popularity at the National capital recommend him for reelection and it is evident that if results for Hawaii are desired by the voters of this Territory they must not send a new and untried Delegate to Washington. There is no sense in sending a new man to Washington every two years to "learn the ropes," and just get into a position to do effective work when he is supplanted by another. Kūhio's record of accomplishment during his first session of Congress was one that was a credit to this Territory and the last session was one most remarkable for the amount of work done for the benefit of Hawaii. He has given the best that was in him to the service of his fellow citizens, seeking to interest the national leaders in that which will uphold Hawaii and redound to the benefit of all her people. Kūhio will, if re-elected, proceed along this line of endeavor and will, as heretofore, make good.

Hustace was for six years with T. G. Thrum, the bookman, stationer and publisher. Mr. Hustace has won himself a firm position in the business world through his strict honesty and energy and as Supervisor he will prove an unqualified success.

He graduated with honors from the University of California in 1887 and in the year following became vice principal of the High School here in Honolulu, giving instruction in higher mathematics and Latin. Following this occupation Mr. Gear was bookkeeper with J. T. Waterhouse until after the revolution. Then he started the Independent, a morning newspaper, with Edmund Norrie, editor, and Daniel Logan, city editor, and Mr. Lewis of Lovejoy & Co., as business manager.

This continued for about one year, when the old Daily Bulletin was incorporated with the Independent. Mr. Gear has continued his affiliations with the Bulletin to this day. At the time of his running the Independent he branched out into the real estate and insurance businesses, opening many fine tracts of land around this city. Mr. Gear has been prominently identified with many big land deals.

His connections today, with large business and land interests render him especially conversant with the requirements and conditions of this Island.

In 1898 Mr. Gear was elected to the Legislature, on the Reform ticket. He it was who fathered the pure food law and he it was who brought about the legislation for fire stations in Makiki and Kalihi. The Audit Act was one of the very important measures which he helped realize.

Mr. Gear was elected to the Council of State, remaining as a member of that body until annexation. He was chairman of the Republican Fourth District Committee during the special election wherein W. W. Harris defeated August Dreier.

He is now in the employ of the Allen & Robinson Company as foreman of their lumber yard and his business relations both with the men under him and with the men with whom he transacts his business are always pleasant.

His entrance into politics occurred in 1903 when he received the nomination for Supervisor on the Republican ticket, while he was in San Francisco on a business trip. He was defeated in his first attempt for office but is now a member of the Board, having been appointed to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Edward R. Adams on August 17 of the present year. He needs no introduction to the general public.

Candidate for Attorney of the County of Oahu

For County Attorney John W. Cathcart is the strongest man who could be found for the position. His previous experience of four years as deputy attorney general of the Territory during the transition period showed to the legal fraternity and the people at large that he was and is a man capable of filling the highest positions of public trust.

Mr. Cathcart was born in St. Paul, Minn., 46 years ago and was educated in the public schools of that city, obtaining his legal education in the office of the late U. S. Senator Davis of that state. He came to this Territory eight years ago and has been one of the best known attorneys of the city ever since. He has been taken up so with his legal business that now for the first time he has entered the political arena and he has without any question the backing and full support of the members of the bar, the business men and the public at large.

Candidate for Treasurer of the County of Oahu

Fred. T. P. Waterhouse, the Republican candidate for Treasurer, is a man who is known to everyone in Honolulu and in the Hawaiian Islands. He had his early education at Punahou College and then took a course of electrical engineering at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. On his return to this city he took a position with the Hawaiian Electric Company and remained with them for some years, then joining his father, J. T. Waterhouse, with whom he stayed till the consolidation of his business and that of May & Co. and the Pacific Hardware. He was next appointed agent for the National Cash Register Co. and went to England for them as their special agent. He is now connected with the Waterhouse Company as senior partner and is a most successful business man.

His first nomination was for the Legislature of 1905, when he was elected on the Republican ticket, but he has been one of the staunch workers in the ranks ever since the party was organized in this Territory and has with one exception attended every Territorial convention which has been held. With a man like Mr. Waterhouse as Treasurer the public can feel sure that the county funds are being well managed.

C. F. CHILLINGWORTH
Candidate for Territorial Senator from Oahu

Charles F. Chillingworth, Republican candidate for the Senate, was born on the Island of Hawaii about 32 years ago, and has lived in these Islands ever since. He early entered upon the study of law in the office of his father, Mr. Samuel F. Chillingworth, residing for some time on the Island of Maui after leaving the Big Island.

Mr. Chillingworth has had much experience in the police department of this island and he was Deputy Sheriff when A. M. Brown was High Sheriff. As an officer Mr. Chillingworth won an enviable reputation for quick, clever and effective work, apprehending, often at great personal risk, many desperate characters and bringing them to justice.

Mr. Chillingworth is now practicing law in this city. He is exceedingly popular with Hawaiians and haoles alike and will undoubtedly be the people's choice for a seat in the Senate.

For 26 years Mr. Quinn has been a plumber. In Benicia he was town trustee for a term. He has always been a staunch Republican.

It is the earnest determination of Mr. Quinn to work for the advancement of Hawaii along American lines. He heartily favors a re-construction of the liquor laws and he will advocate the increase of funds for the Territorial public schools. Mr. Quinn also favors the enlargement of the powers of the system of County government. He will champion the fair remuneration of the American citizen who has employment with the Government.

Mr. Quinn advocates additional funds for the improved maintenance of the leper settlement on Molokai and he stands for a simplification of the land laws for the benefit of Hawaiian and other settlers.
